MISCELLANEOUS READING. MANLINESS OF SPEECH.

the following amusing but instructive passage: "The point to which I have next to direct attention is manliness in speech. There are many young men who seem to consider it essential to manliness, that they should be masters of slang. The sporting world, like its brother, the swell mob, has a language of its own; but this dog-English extends far beyoud the sporting world. It comes with its hordes of barbarous words, threatening the entire extinction of genuine English. Now just listen for a moment to our fast young man, or the ape of a fast young man, who thinks that to be a man he must talk in the thing on his own responsibility, he does it ing display of animal training and instinct ever on his own "book." If he sees anything remark bly good, he calls it a "stunner," the tavern bill, he is asked if he will "stand Sam." It he meets a savagelooking dog, he calls him an "ugly customer." If he meets an eccentric man, he calls him a "rummy old cove." A sensible man is a "chap that is up to snuff." A man not remarkable for good sense is a "cake"--a "flat"--a "spoon"- a "stick"-"his mother does not know he is out." A doubtful assertion is to be "told to the marines." A incredible statement is "all gammon." Our young friend never scolds, but "blows up," never pays, but "stumps up"--never finds it difficult to pay, but is "hard up"-never feels fatigued, but is "used up." He has no hat, but shelters his head beneath a "tile." He wears no neckeloth, but surrounds his throat with a "choker." He lives nowhere, but there is some place where he "hangs out." He never goes away or withdraws, but he "bolts"-he "slopes" -- he "mizzles" -- he "makes himself scarce"--he "walks his chalk"-he "makes tracks"-he "cuts his stick"-or what is the same thing, he "cuts his lucky!" The big! est compliment you can pay him is to tell him that he is a "regular brick." He does not profess to be brave, but he prides himself on being "plucky." Money is a word which he has forgotten, but he talks a good deal about "tin," and the "needful," the "rhino," and the "ready."-When a man speaks, be "spouts"-when te holds his peace, he "shuts up"-when he is W. Ward, in which he will personate, with admirable dexterity, all the following characters: and "made to sing small." He calls his The Gipsey, Female Modesty, and Bacchus, god hands "paws," his legs "pins." To be perplexed, is to be "flummaxed"--to be disappointed, is to be "dished"-to be cheated, is to be "sold"-to be cheated clearly, is to be "done brown." Whatsoever is fine, is "nob-Adelle Dubois, from the Parisian Circus and London Amphitheatre, in all her tours de grace and agile feats of equestrianism.

Whatsoever is shabby, is "seedy"—whatsoever is pleasant, is "jolly." He says "Blessed if he does this," "blowed if he does that," "hanged" if he does the other thing; or he exclaims "My eyes" "my stare!" It you asked him which were his stars, he would be "flummaxed." Then he swears "By George"-"by the Piper"-on select occasions he selects "the piper that played before Moses." Now a good deal of this slang is of Exhibition, at about 10 o'clock, a m, in harmless; many of the terms are, I think, grand procession, accompanied by the superb very expressive; yet there is much in slang American Brass Band, of 12 wind instruments, that is objectionable.
